

Important COVID-19 Safety Modifications for Eco-Justice Programs & Tours

Eco-Justice will follow regulations set by the Racine Health Department and guidelines for summer programming outlined by the CDC. We are implementing these policies to protect the safety of all participants and staff.

- If your child or a member of your household is at higher risk for severe illness we advise you to seek advice from your primary care providers to assess risks and determine if attendance is acceptable.
- All programs will happen outdoors in areas closed to general visitors. (In the event of inclement weather, programs will be rescheduled or canceled with a refund.)
- Programs will be limited to 10 participants and one instructor or for Summer Camps to 24 participants and 6 educators. Children will be divided into small groups of 8 participants with 2 educators assigned to each group. Groups will remain the same throughout the week in order to minimize contact.
- Activities will be modified to limit or prevent physical contact and allow distancing.
- We will follow or exceed Racine's mask mandate requirements and all participants will be required to wear masks. The instructor will allow participants to remove masks at certain times during the program when the group is maintaining a social distance of 6ft or more.
- Parents/guardians/attending adults will complete COVID waiver forms prior to attending. See waiver on our website: ecojusticecenter.org/programs
